

Sensor Film Monitors surface Temperature Variations in Heat Sinks

FEBRUARY 21ST, 2011

BY SARAH LONG

Categories: Heat Sinks, New Products

Tags: Temperature Sensors

Thermex[®] is a thin sensor film that can be used in multiple applications to test and monitor heated contacting surfaces from 200° to 300°F (93° to 149°C). Upon exposure to heat, Thermex[®] changes color instantaneously and permanently to reveal temperature distribution between any two contacting surfaces.

Thermex[®] temperature distribution paper enhanced by Topaq[®] Analysis